Appeal of the Commission Save Ganga Maya's Life

National Human Rights Commission's serious attention has been drawn towards the fragile health condition of Ganga Maya who was under treatment in the Bir Hospital for a long time due to repeated hunger strike again started from 29th May 2018 demanding to probe the murder of her son Krishna Prasad Adhikari and legal action to the perpetrator. The Commission monitored her health condition again, today.

Though the Commission repeatedly drew attention of the Nepal government and the concerned agencies it was not pin over back, the value and principles of getting easy, accessible and speedy justice has not preserved so that judicial mechanisms will face increasing credibility questions because of not having protection and respect of human rights. Therefore, the Commission appeals to all concerned parties and agencies to make immediate efforts to save Ganga Maya's life being sensitive towards her health condition.
