Bring the Situation into Normalcy

BARA: The serious attention of the National Human Rights Commission has been drawn to the uncomfortable situation emerged through the escalation of agitation over the shifting of the government offices in Bara district for the last couple of days. The team deployed by the Commission has been conducting on-the-spot monitoring in this regard.

Though it is the fundamental right of the citizens to organize peaceful protest program to express dissatisfaction in a democratic system, the Commission would like to draw the attention of all concerned not to violate the rights of others while enjoin own.

The Commission, therefore, urges both the agitating party and the security force to restrain and seek out the solution to the problem through dialogue and consensus.

The Commission also urges the Government to consider the interest of the local residents while making such decision to shift the government offices elsewhere.
