NHRC urges effective relief and rehabilitation

The National Human Rights Commission has been incessantly monitoring the incident of the loss of lives and properties in a massive landslide triggered by continuous rainfall blocking the Sunkoshi River in Jure village of Sindhupalchok district around 3:00 AM on August 1, 2014.

As per the monitoring report, various government and non-government authorities have been involved in rescue work at the incident site. The Commission, however, urges the Government to adopt the necessary measures to rescue and rehabilitate the landslide victims effectively and to resume the traffic movement at the soonest.

The Commission expresses its heartfelt condolences to all grief stricken family members who have lost their beloved ones in the incident.
